District Superintendent's Report

During the 2010/11 school year, Lexington School District Two continued to use a results-based, data-driven decision making process to offer the best possible programs as we served approximately 8,900 students in nine elementary schools, four middle schools, two high schools, an alternative school and an adult education center.

Despite the continuing precipitous decline in state revenue, with the support of our Board of Trustees, Lexington District Two continued to garner a variety of awards: Congaree Elementary School and Springdale Elementary School were named Palmetto Gold Award winners for Overall Academic Performance, and Palmetto Silver Award winners for Academic Improvement in Closing the Achievement Gap; Taylor Elementary School and Fulmer Middle School received two Palmetto Silver Awards, one for Overall Academic Performance and one for Academic Improvement in Closing the Achievement Gap; Pineview Elementary School received the Palmetto Silver Award for Overall Academic Performance based upon their Report Card results. Additionally, nine of our elementary schools were recognized for meeting Adequate Yearly Progress for achieving 100 percent of their No Child Left Behind goals while Congaree-Wood Early Childhood Center continued their trend of receiving Excellent Ratings based on the State Report Card. Also, Busbee Creative Arts Academy received the Apple Exemplary Program Award for their 21st Century iLearn Project, which increased student engagement through the utilization of instructional "apps." Also, Airport High School and Brookland-Cayce High School were recognized for dramatically reducing their drop-out rates, while our Adult Education Program received numerous state awards. Along with these school-level awards, the District received the Certificate of Excellence in Financial Reporting Award.

Lexington Two continued to encourage excellence through professional growth through our Professional Development Cohorts. This Early Release Program provided opportunities for vertical articulation and collaboration based on instructional topics, which yielded action research productions. In addition to this initiative, the District offered classes during our Annual Summer Instructional Institute.

The District elected not to introduce any new initiatives in order to strengthen the research-based endeavors that were implemented the prior year which were designed to close the Achievement Gap and increase rigor. These initiatives included: Habits of the Mind, Robert Narzano High-Yield Strategies, technology integration and infusion, and setting SMARTS goals which are designed to be specific, measureable, attainable, results-driven, timely and student-centered.

As a professional learning community, Lexington Two will continue to focus on effective instruction and academic success. In closing, we thank our Board, teachers, staff, parents, business partners and community members for their continued support as we strive collectively to be "Champions for Children."
